to turn out to a fire, is accomplished in a few seconds of time.

He sootily kissed his sleeping wife.

Then with a lingering look

He gazed at her as she lay

And kissed her pretty cheek

And then he turned away

And sought his bed in vain

For his heart was still in love

With the woman who lay

So sweetly in his arms.

—Numbers of the Chicago excursionists have returned. They speak of many disagreeable things at Chicago—lack of proper accommodation for guests and exorbitant charges not only for the hotel but for the necessities of life. There were too many visitors at Chicago; they were too thick to be happy.

—At the Charleston depot grounds or yard an immense shed or shed for railroad cars has been erected, also a dryhouse for timber. The latter house has a pair of wooden chimneys resembling a steamboat. At night if a red and green light were put on the chimneys, a stranger would imagine that a big steamboat was coming down the Bayou Gayoso.

—Huck and buggy-riding at night is a popular pastime at present. Those who ride late at night generally frequent the beer-gardens on the boulevard and vicinity, where supper and beer can be secured. On returning early in the morning, the occupants of the hucks and buggies are generally hilarious, and are much more inclined to drive through the town than the quiet streets en route for their homes.

—Numbers of black people now carry umbrellas to protect them from the heat of the sun, but the majority of white men have abandoned the umbrella protection. The time was when all this was done. The question will strike the philosopher: Is civilization making the black man more civilized and the white man more hardy and tough in constitution?

—Sunday barbecues are occasionally indulged in by the people of this city. The time was when all this was done. The question will strike the philosopher: Is civilization making the black man more civilized and the white man more hardy and tough in constitution?

—At the Shelby county circuit court, the following divorce bill was read: Rachel Swanson against Swift Swanson, colored, divorce, prayed for on grounds of cruel treatment, abusive language, and desertion; Berry Hill against Battle Hill, colored, grounds for divorce, pregnancy of defendant at time of marriage, and desertion; Thorton Cole against Sarah Cole, colored, grounds for divorce, adultery with a third person (petitioner's name withheld by the court).

—Last Sunday afternoon a heavy wind, rain, thunder and lightning storm, passed over the city. The rain fell in torrents, and a flood of rain was falling. On this side a strong, cool wind prevailed while the storm-clouds were passing by. The lightning struck a tree on the Graham place, on the Pigeon Creek road, in the village of Union, and set fire to pieces and burning the limbs a hundred feet away.

—The Shelby County Grange association has decided to hold a fair on the 12th and 13th of October and continuing five days. Workmen are now engaged in pulling the grounds for the fair. A pamphlet is being gotten out, containing the premium list and programme. A committee is calling upon the business men for contributions in the premium list. That the fair will be attractive and successful is indicated from the fact that many are taking a charge of it. It is an assurance that it will be properly conducted. Among those who are interesting themselves in the fair are Hon. Jacob Thompson, R. D. Goodwin, Chamberlain Jones, C. Weatherford, and many others.

WHAT I WOULD LIKE.

I'd kind of like to have a coat

Fixed on some sunny slope; a spot

Where I could sit and read my book

With maple, cedars, cherry trees

And poplars waving overhead.

'Twould also suit my taste, I guess

To have the porch with vines o'ringing

With bells of pendant nodding flowers

In every bell a bee;

And my last wished window spread

A clump of roses, white and red.

And so, to please mine and me

I'd kind of like to have a coat

Fixed on some sunny slope; a spot

Where I could sit and read my book

With maple, cedars, cherry trees

And poplars waving overhead.

'Twould also suit my taste, I guess

To have the porch with vines o'ringing
